Teaching Experience:

Sept. 2012-
present Jazz Ensemble Director, Jazz History Teacher, Private Trumpet Studies Instructor at Cushing Academy
Ashburnham, MA

As Jazz Ensemble Director, I am responsible for selecting repertoire, composing and arranging study, rehearsal, and performance material, and directing a 17-piece high school jazz ensemble in daytime class meetings four days a week. We perform several concerts both on and off campus during the course of the school year. I also schedule guest artists and clinicians as budgets allow. Additional responsibilities include providing private or group guidance outside of class time in areas such as musicianship, music theory, composition, arranging, improvisation, and sight reading as well as some academic and music career counseling.

As a Jazz History teacher, I meet with a class of 10-12 students four days a week for three terms per academic year. I have designed an independent curriculum using a combination of lectures, demonstrations, discussions, live in-class performances, video documentaries, audio and video recorded musical examples, and students projects (papers, presentations, discussions, performances, etc.) to cover the history of jazz from it's earliest roots to it's most contemporary.

As a private trumpet instructor, I am responsible for teaching trumpet technique, sight-reading, and musicianship to high school trumpet students. Additional responsibilities may also include teaching basic to advanced music theory as well as jazz theory, improvisation, and composition to students as need and/or interest requires.

Sept. 2012-
present Director of Indian Hill Music Adult Jazz Ensemble
Littleton, MA

I am responsible for conducting, directing rehearsal "classes" once a week, selecting repertoire, and booking community performances for the 17-piece Indian Hill Adult Big Band.

2010–present Private Trumpet Studies Instructor, Fitchburg State University,
Fitchburg, MA

I am responsible for teaching trumpet technique, sight-reading, and musicianship to University trumpet students and community musicians of all ages. Additional responsibilities may also include teaching basic to advanced music theory as well as jazz theory, improvisation, and composition to students as need and/or interest requires.

1990-present Home Studio, Leominster, MA

In addition to my typical private students responsibilities, I recruit for and manage my own studio, maintaining all students' payment and attendance schedules.

1993–2014 Faculty, Joy of Music Program, Worcester, MA

My responsibilities included:

I taught trumpet, sight-reading, musicianship and music theory to beginning, intermediate and advanced trumpet students of all ages; including preparations for regional and state select ensembles and college admission auditions.

I taught jazz music theory, improvisation, composition, and arranging to students of all instruments.

I directed small jazz ensembles at all levels. Repertoire includes standard jazz repertoire, original works of my own, original works of the students', and improvisation-based re-compositions of several other genres of music – International and American folk and classical music, rock, funk, R&B, and various “fusions”. The finer points of ensemble playing and individuality are always stressed, as well as performance etiquette and a commitment to teamwork. Many ensembles have and continue to perform in community events in the greater Worcester area.

Sept. 2011-
June 2012 Director of the Fitchburg State University Jazz Ensemble
Fitchburg, MA

I was responsible for selecting and arranging repertoire for five part-time FSU student musicians for a one-semester, one-credit course. The bulk of my work focused on finding common musical grounds between the widely varying experience levels of these students. Improvisation, ensemble playing and musicianship were stressed. The final project was a public performance at FSU.

2010–2013 Private Trumpet Studies Instructor, Holy Name High School,
Worcester, MA

I taught trumpet technique, sight-reading, musicianship, and music theory to beginning, intermediate, and advanced trumpet students in the middle and high schools.

1998–2000 Faculty, Indian Hill Music Center, Littleton, MA
I taught trumpet, musicianship and music theory to beginning, intermediate, and advanced trumpet students of all ages.

Commissioned Composer and Guest Director of Jazz Ensembles:

Feb. 2014 Director of the Schenectady (NY) All-County Senior High Jazz Band.
In addition to rehearsing and directing this 18-piece ensemble, I was commissioned to compose an original work, One Man's Bridge. I conducted the final concert of this 2-day event at the Scotia-Glenville High School in Scotia, NY.

Jan. 2011 Director of the Central District Massachusetts Music Educators Association (CDMMEA) Senior Jazz Band. In addition to rehearsing and directing this 18-piece ensemble, I was commissioned to compose an original work (Tune Formerly Known as Prince (Albert)) and arrange a suite of three early Sun Ra works. I conducted the final concert of this 3-day event at Mechanics Hall in Worcester, MA.

Oct. 2009 Tahanto Regional High School, Boylston, MA. I co-organized and led a two-day residency for the jazz programs of Tahanto High School and Middle School as well as the Elementary programs from Berlin and Boylston., MA. This residency included my directing several large and small jazz ensembles, organizing and running a large group improvisation workshop for all jazz students, teaching a high school AP Music Theory class, composing an original piece for small high school jazz ensemble, and performing in a culminating concert with student groups and with Sonic Explorers.

Mar. 2006 Lunenburg High School, Lunenburg, MA. I had an original work commissioned for the Lunenburg High School Jazz Band (Blue Knights With Soy Bombs). I attended several rehearsals as guest conductor and directed the band at its premiere concert.

Feb. 2004 Longy School of Music, Cambridge, MA. Three of my original works were commissioned for Charlie Kohlhase's Modern American Music Ensemble. I was invited as guest director to attend several rehearsals of these pieces which were later performed in concert by the ensemble.

Apr. 2003 Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, MA. I had an original work commissioned for the WPI Jazz Combo (Café Barada) directed by Rich Falco and attended several rehearsals as ensemble coach. The piece was later performed in concert by the ensemble.

1998-2000, Founder and director of the Indian Hill Arts Big Band.

- 2013-present Responsibilities included recruiting band members, selecting repertoire, directing weekly rehearsals, arranging repertoire, and organizing community performances.
- 1995-2014 Joy of Music Program, Worcester, MA. I have had several small jazz ensemble works commissioned, performed and kept as part of the Joy of Music Program's jazz ensemble program. All pieces were written to cover a wide range of levels of expertise and are used often for rehearsal and performance purposes.

Clinician, Coach and Featured Artist:

- May 2014 Wheaton College, Norton, MA. I led a world music and improvisation clinic for students of the Wheaton Jazz Ensemble followed by a guest appearance and performance with the Wheaton Jazz Ensemble.
- Mar. 2014 Masconomet Regional High School, Topsfield, MA. I co-led an improvisation clinic along with four other colleagues for 15-20 high school and middle school music students prior to an evening performance of student and professional ensembles.
- Jan. 2013 Hollis-Brookline High School, Hollis, NH. I led several jazz trumpet workshops for area high school jazz trumpeters and co-led a faculty jazz performance for the Hollis-Brookline High School, Hollis 2013 Jazz festival.
- Nov. 2011 Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, MA. Co-hosted a workshop along with Garrison Fewell and Charlie Kohlase for the WPI jazz combo. Improvisation, personal style, musicianship, and ensemble playing were stressed.
- May 2010 Holy Name High School, Worcester, MA. Coached the High School jazz ensemble in preparation for the Great East Festival competition.
- 2008-2013 Applewild School, Fitchburg, MA. Hosted several brass clinics with beginner and intermediate brass students focusing mainly on the fundamentals of warming up, practicing, and exercising the embouchure.
- Apr. 2008 Bow High School, Bow, NH. Hosted an all-day jazz clinic with music students from the Bow middle school and high school ending with a concert of original music by Sonic Explorers.
- Mar. 2005 University of Maine at Augusta. Hosted a morning jazz clinic/lecture and demonstration for music students, faculty and community on the topic

- of world music influences in jazz and improvised music. The day ended with an evening concert of original music by Sonic Explorers.
- Apr. 2002 Groton School, Groton, MA. Hosted an all-day jazz clinic with music students from the Groton School culminating with a concert of original music by Sonic Explorers and a performance by the Groton School Jazz Ensemble.
- Nov. 2001 Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, MA. Trumpet coach for the WPI jazz ensemble trumpet section.

Educational Programs:

- 2011-present Jerry Sabatini's Summer Improvisers Workshop.
I have designed a curriculum, workbook and repertoire (original and arranged materials) for a five-day summer jazz workshop program for intermediate and advanced improvisers on all instruments and/or voice interested in more deeply understanding the theory, aural skills, language and history of improvisation in jazz and other musical genres. Emphasis is always placed on personal style and how it can evolve through an understanding and practice of traditional musical forms. The workshop ends in a live student concert and runs on a yearly basis.
- 1998-present Trio To Go, sponsored by Music Worcester for Worcester K-6 City Schools. As co-program designer and part of this brass trio (trumpet, french horn, and trombone), Trio To Go travels several times a year performing classical repertoire and demonstrating the fundamentals of brass instruments in Worcester's public, charter and magnet school programs. We also discuss and demonstrate simple compositional form and style and allow time for question and answer interaction with the student audience.
- 2001-present Conversations in Jazz, sponsored by Mechanics Hall in Worcester, MA. This program was designed and developed by myself, Rich Falco (Director of Jazz Studies, WPI), and Rich Ardizzone (Associate Director, Joy of Music Program) for the purpose of bringing to the students and public of the greater Worcester community a heightened awareness of jazz music in terms of its historical "roots" and its development, influences and possibilities for the future. Examples of how jazz performance fosters team-work, communication and self-expression are stressed throughout this presentation. I perform in this program with my band, Sonic Explorers (trumpet, trombone, guitar, bass, drums), on original music and arrangements of classic jazz repertoire.
- Mar. 2001 Jazz History presentation and performance at Bancroft School, Worcester, MA. This program was developed and hosted by myself and performed by my band, Sonic Explorers. It focused on a brief overview and demonstration of the history of small ensemble, instrumental jazz music from Louis Armstrong to 21st century jazz. Questions and discussions with students were encouraged at the end of the program.

Feb. 2004 World Music presentation and discussion at Worcester Academy, Worcester, MA. This program was developed and hosted by myself for the purpose of introducing the student body to the history, scope and diversity of indigenous and “fusion” music from around the world. I presented recorded examples and discussed music as wide-ranging as from the Far East, the Indian subcontinent, the Middle East, Eastern Europe, the Balkans, Africa and Latin America. Questions and discussions with students were encouraged during the program.

Personal Education:

2007-09 New England Conservatory, Boston, MA
 M.M. Contemporary Improvisation
 with honors Formerly known as “Third Stream”, this program was founded by Gunther Schuler for performing musicians whose improvisational and compositional interests combine the streams of classical and jazz music. Today, Contemporary Improvisation includes “third stream music” as well as a rich palette of world and experimental musical forms.

Studied classical trumpet with Charles Schlueter; Jazz composition with Frank Carlberg; Improvisation, Experimental music and Personal Style with Anthony Coleman; Long-term Harmonic and Melodic Memory, Personal Style and Ear Training with Ran Blake; North Indian Classical music and Ethnomusicology with Peter Row; Music Technology in the Classroom with Paul Burdick; Music, Brain Development and Learning with Lyle Davidson.

1984-1990, Private Instruction with Jerry Bergonzi, Medfield, MA
 1996-1998 Weekly lessons focused on jazz theory, functional harmony, jazz improvisation, jazz repertoire, personal style, ear-training, and composition for trumpet and piano. Jerry’s own harmonic, melodic and rhythmic exercises and “systems” were often used as well as many transcription and analysis assignments.

1978-1982 State University of New York at Buffalo, Buffalo, NY
 B.S. Electrical Engineering
 Studied Chemistry, Physics, Advanced Calculus, Engineering Systems, Analog Circuit Design, Electromagnetic Theory, Electrical Power Systems, Semiconductor Theory, Software Programming, Music Theory, Jazz History, Jazz Improvisation and Jazz Ensemble.

Performed on trumpet for four years in the SUNY at Buffalo Jazz Ensemble and small jazz combos under the direction of Sam Falzone and Lou Marino.

Performance Experience:

As a Leader or Co-leader (most active and recent from top down)

1995-present Sonic Explorers, Boston MA

I founded, perform with, compose and arrange for, and direct this ensemble of four to eight pieces – trumpet, saxophones, clarinet/bass clarinet, trombone, piano, guitar, bass, and drums. Since 1998 this ensemble has focused on my original works drawing on traditional and modern folk songs from around the world, traditional and modern jazz, 20th and 21st century classical music, as well as music such as Northern Indian Hindustani, Turkish, Arabic, Far Eastern, rock, soul, Latin, and the blues. This ensemble travels throughout New England giving performances, master classes, demonstrations and clinics. We have released five independent recordings; The Birth of The Kakalla (1996), Beatnik Oblivion (1998), So Far, So Near (2002), Lore of The Land (2007), and American Gypsy (2013), all on Nada Brahma Records.

2007-present Roving Soul, Boston, MA

I co-founded, perform with, compose, and arrange for this trio of trumpet, saxophone and acoustic bass. The repertoire focuses on a blend of traditional and modern folk songs from around the world with traditional and modern jazz, through composition, and improvisation. Our first independent recording, Bootleg Baklava, was released in 2011.

2005-2009 Iskar, Boston, MA

I co-founded, co-led, and performed with this quartet of trumpet, guitar, bass, and drums. All members contributed to the repertoire, which was a blend of modern jazz, rock, and Balkan music. This band released one independent recording, Carnival of Souls, in 2009

2000-2006 Kakalla, Worcester, MA

I co-founded and performed with this quartet of trumpet, guitar, bass and drums led by bassist and composer, Thomson Kneeland. The music is a blend of modern jazz, Balkan, Tango, Klezmer, Middle Eastern, and modern classical music. This band has released three CDs since 2000, The Voice of Blood (2000), The Voice of Twilight (2001), Seeds of Analog Rebellion (2004), all on the independent label, Weltschmerz Records. All compositions and arrangements were by Thomson Kneeland.

As a Side-man (most active and recent from top down)

- 2013-present The Eric Hofbauer Quintet, Boston, MA
 I perform as a full-time and featured member of this ensemble comprised of guitar, clarinet/bass clarinet, trumpet, cello and drums. The repertoire focuses on Eric's re-compositions, arrangements, and improvisations of and on modern classical works such as Stravinsky's, The Rite of Spring, Messaen's, Quartet For The End of Time, and Ives', Three Places. I have recorded two Cds with this ensemble, Prehistoric Jazz Vol. I&II (Creative Nation Music, 2014)
- 2010-present Mehmet Sanlikol's Turkish-Jazz Ensembles, Boston, MA
 As a full-time member of this ensemble, I perform as a sideman and soloist in a nine-piece ensemble and twenty-piece contemporary big band both led by Grammy nominated composer, arranger, pianist, vocalist, and multi-instrumentalist, Mehmet Sanlikol. These ensembles feature Mehmet's original works and arrangements blending Turkish Ottoman music with jazz, from its many traditions. We have performed in Boston, and NYC as well as in Istanbul, and Bursa, Turkey with Turkish guitarist, Erkan Oğur. I have recorded one CD with this band, What's Next (Dunya, 2013).
- 2010-present Ken Field's Revolutionary Snake Ensemble, Boston, MA
 I perform as a featured member of this 4 to 8-piece New Orleans traditional and avant-garde instrumental ensemble. We have performed many times in Boston as well as in NYC and the Kennedy Center in Washington DC. I have recorded one CD with this band, Live Snakes (Accurate, 2014).
- 2008-present Makanda Project, Boston, MA
 As a full-time member of this 10-piece instrumental ensemble, I have performed many concerts as a side-man and soloist in Boston as well as in NYC, Baltimore, MD, and Washington, DC. Led by pianist and arranger, John Kordalewski, this ensemble focuses exclusively on the original works of jazz woodwind player and composer Makanda Ken McIntyre. We regularly feature guest artists such as: Oliver Lake, Billy Hart, Warren Smith, Joe Ford, Craig Harris, Salim Washington, and Carl Grubbs. Featured in performances in Boston, NYC, Philadelphia and Baltimore.
- 2012-present Neurotic Gumbo, Leominster, MA
 I perform as a sideman and soloist in a three-piece horn section for this nine-piece classic rock and R&B ensemble. In addition, I transcribe and arrangement all the horn section material. We perform for dances and concerts in central MA.
- 2007-present Charlie Kohlhasse's Explorers Club, Boston, MA

I perform as needed with this ensemble whose repertoire focuses mainly on Charlie Kohlhase's original compositions of modern and free jazz styles. The instrumentation varies from 2 to 4 horns (saxophones, trumpet, trombone, tuba), guitar or piano, 1 or 2 bass(es) and 1 or 2 drum(s).

- 2012-present The Manuel Kaufmann Nonet, Boston, MA
I perform as a sideman and soloist in this nine-piece jazz ensemble led by composer, arranger, and bassist Manuel Kaufmann. Featuring Manuel's original works and arrangements performed in Boston, MA
- 2014-present The Either Orchestra, Boston, MA
On a substitute-basis I performed as a sideman and soloist in this ten-piece Boston-based jazz ensemble led by saxophonist, Russ Gershon.
- 1995-present Mark Marquis Group, Leominster, MA
As a full-time member of this band, I have played many performances and have been featured on several recordings. Led by guitarist, pianist and composer, Mark Marquis, the music ranges from classical rock and blues to avant garde jazz, modern classical and pop. The instrumentation is guitar, keyboards, trumpet/flugelhorn, saxophone/flute/other reeds, percussion, bass, and drums. The band has released five CDs since 1990. I have performed on three; Above The Clouds (1996), The Invisible Ray (2000), And They're Always Glad You're Here (2006).
- 2010-present Garrison Fewell's Variable Density Sound Orchestra, Boston, MA
I performed as a sideman and soloist in this seven-piece instrumental ensemble featuring Garrison's original compositions. An Oct 2010 performance in Boston, MA featured John Tchicai.
- 2010-2012 The Boston Jazz Composers Alliance Orchestra, Boston, MA
I performed as a sideman and soloist in this seventeen-piece instrumental ensemble featuring the original compositions of founding members, Darrell Katz, Bob Pilkington, Warren Senders, Bill Lowe, David Harris and Jim Hobbs.
- 2006-present Charles Neville
I perform as needed with Charles Neville of the Neville Brothers, whose repertoire focuses mainly on traditional New Orleans jazz music as well as jazz-funk and soul music.
- Feb. 2009 Anthony Coleman's Faculty Recital at New England Conservatory
As the featured soloist, I performed the premiere of Anthony Coleman's composition, Jeder Mißbrauch wird bestraft, for solo trumpet, jazz piano trio, string trio and three mbiras. Performed Anthony Coleman's composition, Set Into Motion, for brass ensemble.

- Mar. 2009 Anthony Coleman at Issue Project Room, Brooklyn, NY
I performed Anthony Coleman's composition, Jeder Mißbrauch wird bestraft, for solo trumpet, jazz piano trio, string trio and three mbiras.
- 2009-2011 Poludaktulos Orchestra, Boston, MA
The "Many-Fingered Orchestra" originated as a unique spin on northern Greek brass band music. The group is evolving to encompass a diverse repertoire of groove-heavy tunes from around the Balkans. In this band I perform on trumpet and euphonium.
- Sept. 2008 Elliot Sharpe Residency and Concert at New England Conservatory
I performed in several ensembles, under the direction of Elliot Sharp, in a concert at NEC featuring several works by guitarist and composer Elliot Sharpe. The concert ended a week-long residency at NEC.
- Sept. 2007 Fred Frith Residency and Concert at New England Conservatory
I performed in several ensembles, under the direction of Elliot Sharp, in a concert at NEC featuring several works by guitarist and composer Fred Frith. The concert ended a week-long residency at NEC.
- 1986-1988 Triangle Times, Long Island, NY
As a full-time member of this wedding reception and function band from Long Island, NY, I played trumpet and wrote horn arrangements for trumpet, saxophone and trombone. The repertoire was pop, rhythm and blues, swing, latin, and many other styles of dance music. I worked one to three times a week with this band exclusively for two years.
- 1984-present Freelance Trumpet Player
I have performed as a freelance trumpet player in concerts of jazz, latin-jazz, salsa, rhythm and blues, rock, and world folk music, as well as classical music for wedding ceremonies and church services. I also perform at a variety of functions ranging from wedding receptions, corporate parties, Bar and Bat Mitzvahs to community events. I have booked many of these events and often compose, arrange and organize the appropriate music and musicians accordingly.
